It was Allan's first day in school, and while eating lunch in the cafeteria, he saw a girl named Alice drop her tray, and "Ka-blash!" Her lunch spilled everywhere. Rather than get upset, Alice pronounced, "Well, this is a great day to be an adventurer," and proceeded to pick up the mess. A boy named Alvin stepped in to help. She smiled, and said "Thanks!"

Later, while playing at recess, Allan saw Alice trip and skin her knee.

He could tell it hurt, but was surprised by Alice's reaction.

After brushing a tear from her cheek, she said, "This is a great day to be an adventurer." Then a girl named Alicia came up to her and said, "You should get a bandaid on that.

Let's go to the nurse's office."

Alice smiled and said, "Thanks!"

On the bus ride home, Alice's backpack unzipped, and everything fell out on the floor. Again she said, "This a great day to be an adventurer!" This time Allan stepped in to help pick things up, then he asked her, "Alice, I've seen three bad things happen to you today, and each time you say 'This is a great day to be an adventurer.' Why do you say that?"

Alice replied, "Here at this school, we are all adventurers. We have adventurer friends, and we all care about each other, and help each other. It's the adventurer way. So no matter what happens, I know I have friends who care, and will help me. That makes every day a great day to be an adventurer!" After all of her things were gathered up, Alice smiled and said, "Thanks for your help! Isn't it a great day to be an adventurer!"
